

Denise DeSimone is an author, speaker, teacher/mentor, workshop leader and an ordained Inter-faith minister. She is a dynamic, inspirational public speaker with an extensive background in holistic healing practices. She is a singer and guitarist.

Denise has shared the stage with many including Dr. Bernie Siegel, MD. Her story has also been shared on The Buckley Report, Inside Edition, NBC's Daytime Show, Fox News, along with extensive international radio interviews.

Denise is closely affiliated with the American Cancer Associate through the Relay For Life Program and has served as a speaker and singer for their annual events across the country.

Denise's first book, From Stage IV to Center Stage is an extraordinary story of courage, strength and inspiration. In August 2005, Denise was diagnosed with stage IV throat and neck cancer and was given 3 months to live. Warned, should she live, she may never be able to sing again. In July 2007, just 22 months after her diagnosis, Denise sang the National Anthem to a sell-out crowd of 37,000 Boston Red Sox fans at Fenway Park.

Denise travels throughout the United States generously sharing her life-affirming experience, skills and wisdom through public speaking and teaching transformational workshops for cancer patients, college students, church members and the elderly.

Other works by Denise include: CDs, Make a Joyful Noise- A Meditation Using Sound Healing for Chakra Clearing and Balancing, Walk With Me – a CD of original music, and Pray Peace- a multi-media compilation of music and the spoken word where Denise is the voice for peace.
